The word "mother" has become synonymous to love and care! When we talk about mother, it's a general notion that we think of our biological mother, but the phenomenon of being a mother is much more than that. The world is full of various types of Mothers! Some mothers have not given birth to a child but take up the duty in how they care for others. And on Mother's Day there's this chance to celebrate the silent efforts of all the mothers out there, who have made our life a celebration. Happy Mother's Day to all who have a Mothering Heart!
